A new approach to a timeless theme is presented in your yearbook for 1958—that of a Search for Truth. We desire with doubt and hope, anxiety and confidence that you will accept what we have endeavored to express.

Centering our intention around a fresh, distinct newness, we have grouped student activities under six phases of search, where each holds a degree of significance.

Unique dignity manifests itself throughout by the use of contrasting backgrounds, sublime photography, and representative abstract symbols.

By allowing us to make our aspiration a reality, the staff extends its gratitude to fellow students and friends by proudly presenting the 1958 WHITE HEATHER.

Dedication

For every person a unique and separate search is envisioned. There are a chosen handful of searchers who receive honors. Some burn the midnight oil studying, while others consume their oils with idle chatter. Still others spend endless hours doing good deeds, some doing so for praise and recognition, some performing the task in a quiet and unseen manner. Irrespective of which group you belong to personally, ask yourself, "In my search am I honestly seeking truth?" To those members of the student body, faculty and administration who are able to say "yes" without hesitation, we dedicate this annual. For in so doing we know that as you aspire to the climax of your search, it will not end, but will be endless.

Climax

Years of searching are turned to cherished moments now long gone. In the rush of Senior activities that long-awaited day arrived, and we were pessimistic and unprepared as to the future. There had been little time to meditate on the past, for all of our spare moments were spent in clouds of wonder, dreams, hopes, aspirations about the years ahead. Hectic, yet rewarding days of wearisome study, meetings, exams, classes molded our destiny as we approached a terminus to four years of college and a commencing into life—our preparation behind—our challenge ahead.

Hazel McLean, President, with Cynthia Lovin, Mascot.

Seniors Jean Quinn, Faye Jordan, Dot Bryant, and Mattie Ruth Godwin express their delight over the Senior Silver Tea.

With the grind of methods, principles, psychology, and practical knowledge tucked away, Jean Way practices her learnings on Mrs. Prevatte's second grade pupils.

Although it was almost midnight when we found time to trim our Christmas tree, we enjoyed the fun and fellowship of the tradition.

Anticipation

The struggle through required courses was behind as, with expectancy, we narrowed our interests to major courses. The handbook told us we would have "nights out." As Juniors we proudly took the upper-classmen ranks by moving to the chapel seats at the front of the auditorium. Further sophistication affixed itself to our group when our marshals ushered at concerts and commencement exercises. As "big sisters" we took peculiar pride in making diminutive the magnified problems of our "little sisters." Prospect and contemplation over going-up day and capping brought perpetual chatter and eternal dreams about Senior year.

Perplexity

With the feeling of being well seasoned college students, we stepped into our Sophomore year. Chaos was upon us in the form of Sophomore Lit. The complexity of activities beckoned as our responsibilities and privileges increased. There were prayer band leaders to be selected and college blazers to be sold. Soon the stark realization of the ultimate faced us as we, baffled, elated, and worried, chose our majors. Hospitality week end offered us a glimpse of the Junior year, when we would be "big sisters."

Innocence

We plunged into college life with wonder, doubt, anxiety, and homesickness. The world we saw through rose-colored glasses left us little time to actually stabilize our new kaleidoscopic existence. Naive obedience placed us on bended knees at the feet of our cats whose superiority reaffirmed our status as rats. Following the handbook was no easy task at first, but organization of our class supplied us new foresight in our dazzled hours.

Tuesday night is the council's session time when business of the week is discussed. The invisible hand of the Student Government sweeps over all activities of the college directly and indirectly. The student handbook, prepared during the summer, a hand of welcome extended to each new student at the beginning of the year, the council dance, proctors, call downs, card checking, directing spring elections, appointing kitchen clean-up committees, and reminders to keep the tea-hole clean characterize the duties of these twelve girls and one man, the first to hold office on the council.

Dedicated concern for the leadership it displays has gained for the council true respect from the student body.

Search for Truth

Climax

A shout shattered the air. "Here it is!" The freshmen had found their well-hidden mascot making them eligible to participate in A.A. Activities.

Tension mounted as the remaining seconds ticked quickly by. In a split second the ball was thrown and sank securely into the basket.

Anticipation

With elated precaution, chief marshal Nancy Jo Thompson arrives early before the concert. Her vigilant eyes assure her that all is prepared. One last glance at the stage quickens her enthusiasm before the audience begins to arrive—

Zetesians Mac, Peggy, Carole, and Debbie prepare some strategy to sway sign-up night their way—

Perplexity

Frantically searching for words to complete the dummy and meet the deadline is more than this writer can take.

. . . The best? . . . purpose . . . how many?—this freshman's head is muddled with question marks pondering which club to join.

Innocence

This freshman activity was short-lived. How were they to know that peeping over the Rotunda at dates is faux pas?

"Is it really closed? I didn't know it was closed, and I missed breakfast this morning!"

Athletic Association

The search for wholesome physical activity and fair play emanates itself through the varied activities and projects of the Athletic Association. Unlimited opportunities for recreation are offered and promoted through the ingenuity of the board members. Picnics, the tennis tournament, lifeguards for the swimming pool, ping-pong, the recreation room, basketball, volleyball and the A.A. chest are several of their outstanding projects, but the spirit of sportsmanship, clean fun, and honor radiates throughout the campus, touching and inspiring everyone to improvement of their physical and mental capacities.

Monogram Club

The possession of a monogram carries with it the honor of earning it through successful participation in sports. A specific number of points must be accumulated over a period of time before a person is rewarded with the college letters.

Cheerleaders

Enthusiasm for class team spirit is lead by the class cheerleaders. Without the shouting and energy of these girls, the competition in physical activities of the rival teams would be wanton. To spur the spirit of season games and encourage students to support the teams is the responsibility and privilege of the college cheerleaders.

Baton Club

Twirling a baton brings much pleasure to members of the Baton Club. With flashing smile and high stepping legs, they help promote the college when they lead in the Fall Festival parade and announce the beginning of the May Day exercises with their baton routines. Officers are Manette Layton, president; Judy Tindall, vice-president; Dot Adcock, secretary-treasurer.

Senior Team

Victory for the bulldogs is claimed by Captain Alese Harrison and other seniors Hazel McLean, Sandra Sweet, Un Hi Choi, Joy Stalvey, Sarah Goodman, Jane McLeod, and Shirley Evans.

Junior Team

Ready for action is Captain Susan Currie and her teammates Mary Leighton Nisbet, Frances Morton, Mary Rouse, Gay Mothershed, Elizabeth Ann Clark, and Jeanne Flournoy.

Freshman Team

Senior Team

Bulldogs Hazel McLean, Sarah Goodman, Mattie Ruth Godwin, Sandra Sweet, Alese Harrison, and Shirley Evans go into a huddle as captain Jane McLeod gives them a few pointers.

Junior Team

Captain Becky Browning advises her Polar Bears Elizabeth Ann Clark, Dee Jordan, Pattie Jo Jones, Susan Currie, and Della Evans.

Basketball

Sophomore Team

Warming up for the tournament are the Tigers under the leadership of Bertha Thompson, Jackie Arnette, Betsy Culp, Jane Harrell, Ruth McArthur, Phyllis Rateliff, Judy Tindall, Betsy Carruth, Bobbye Montjoy, Carolyn Northrup, Joy Reaves, Phyllis Washburn, and Carolyn Whitley.

Freshman Team

Eyes of the Roosters are fixed on the net as they practice. Captain Martha Currie and star Vonda Goodman hold the ball as others wait their turn at throwing. Ann McLeod, Ann White McMillan, Mary Anna Wells, Judy Rembert, Jane Lowe, Virginia Howard, Mary Katherine Huguelet, Judy Weinges, Gwen Hawley, Chris Snyder, Janet Cox, Penny Moore, Sylvia Willis, Barbara Morgan.

Marshals

Qualities of poise, charm, dignity and hospitality are considered in the selection of marshals for the concerts and lectures of visiting artists at Flora Macdonald. Each of the two societies, Epsilon Chi and Zeta Theta Psi, elect four girls to represent them. The chief marshal is selected from one society, each year alternating. The chief for 1957-58 came from Zeta Theta Psi.

Nancy Jo Thompson
Chief Marshal

Displaying their new sheath gowns and satin slippers are marshals Julia Pridgen, Adalyn Burrows, Dina Brown, Jean McRae, Rosalynde Gibson, Betty Jo Trent, Adaline Brady, and Lynda Hill.

Ready for work, fellowship, and fun Zetesians on the left Ruby Foyles, Mary Lou Hults, Carolyn Northrup, Carol Wolf, Sally Day and Nancy Steele hang curtains in the society hall.

Societies

Rivalry is keen and mounts higher during the first week of the fall semester as each society, Epsilon Chi and Zeta Theta Psi, showers each new student with generosity, favors and kindness. Rush week was just that. Each society schemed and poured out propaganda. Epsilon Chi gave a popcorn party while Zetesian urged each freshman to "go right" and in the evening the campus rang with a serenade. Almost all the meetings of the societies this year were joint. This provided excellent programs which both could enjoy. Dr. Bullock entertained with "Folk Songs," and Dr. Vardell gave a program of his own compositions. Highlighting the activities of both societies was their dance held in February this year. Senior take-offs, a spring project sponsored by the combined groups, was a riot. Working together they accomplished much, but when asking the group which society is best, flashes of green and gold present themselves and strains of "friendship our motto—" and "in fellowship and eager guest—" are sung with true devotion from each society.

Zeta Theta Psi

Below are the officers, Phyllis Barnette, treasurer, Mac Calhoun, president, Boots Pridgen, first vice-president, Mary Rouse, secretary, and Peggy Dunn, censor.

"From the sunny shores of Frisco, to the distant ports of Maine. Away out to the Philippines and then back home again," the Epsilon Chi song is portrayed by Lynda Hill, Mattie Ruth Godwin, Adeline Brady, and Mary Leighton Nisbet above.

Epsilon Chi

Heather

Daring to present an annual set apart from previous ones was a challenge within itself, even before a definite plan of attack was begun. It was not an idea derived from fanciful dreams, but a conviction we felt should be the core of each true student's life. The work was not easy, and we hope that our efforts convey our purpose. To us every picture is in 3-D. Every line of print was lived with until it emerged expressing the right meaning. Miles were traveled, letters were written and books were constantly being checked in search for ads. As the deadline drew near, all revising and repolishing was done of material gathered before all of our ideas could be clumped together in order, ready to be shipped to the publisher. The book itself has been a rewarding experience to us, but our true reward will blossom forth, when we can see our objective become a part of your lives injecting the challenge to "Search for Truth."

Skirl

Articles of interest covering all phases of student and faculty events are combined and published in the college newspaper, The Skirl, to inform everyone about campus activities. Appropriately named, following the Scottish tradition, just as a "skirl" is the sound made by bagpipes our Skirl is the expression of student life at F. M. C. Included besides the feature articles are announcements of social events on the calendar, résumés of previous concerts and recitals, essays and humor skillfully written by staff members.

ROSALYNDE GIBSON
Editor

Williams, Snyder, Dr. Scott, Harrell, Jones, Stevenson, Trent, Gibson.

Pine and Thistle

Self-expression in the form of creative writing develops through The Pine and Thistle, the literary magazine to which faculty and students contribute. Its repertoire of plays, poems, short stories, novels, and essays are original compositions from members of the campus. This provides the writers the opportunity of actually seeing what they have written on printed pages and activates imaginations and aesthetic senses to produce lines of beauty through the medium of writing. A quarterly publication, The Pine and Thistle is advised by Dr. Eleanor B. Scott, edited by Rosalynde Gibson and assistant editor Martha Stevenson. Other staff members are Joyce Williams, Dot Snyder, Thelma Harrell, Betty Jo Trent, and Patty Jo Jones.

Writers' Club

Working behind the scenes, the Writers' Club members study over possible publications in the Pine and Thistle of their writings. The club provides for the needs of those members who love to write and a needed stimulus to those who possess a potential. President Phyllis Washburn discusses with the group one of her four contributions she must present. Listening attentively are Secretary-Treasurer Dot Adcock, Faculty Advisor Dr. Scott and other club members.

Participation

French Club

In preparation for the Christmas banquet, Mademoiselle Sylvia Jennings accompanies the members of the French Club, as they express the story of Christmas through French carols. The new advisor for the club is Miss Julie Stevenson, who came to Flora Macdonald last fall. Regular monthly meetings are held in which increasing interests in French life and culture are stressed under the supervision of President Martha Stevenson, Vice-president Gay Mothershed and Secretary-Treasurer Jackie Arnette.

Spanish Club

Castanets provide the atmosphere of old Spain as Hilary Valente demonstrated to fellow club members the correct way to play them. To become better acquainted with people of Latin American countries, the Spanish Club includes in its program records, games, stories and discussions of these neighbors. Encouraging and promoting student participation in the club are President Mary Rouse, Vice-President Jeanette Cole, Secretary Dina Brown and Treasurer Carolyn Northrup.

Classical Club

Many aspects of our modern life and world are traced back to the Greek and Roman culture. Recognizing and appreciating this heritage is the aim of the Classical Club. Adding life and meaning to help the members is their discussions of Latin and classical civilization is their sponsor, Miss Harriet Morrison, whose annual party highlights the club's activities. The officers for 1957-58 are Marion Davis, President; Mary Lou Hults, Vice-President; Kay Caldwell, Secretary-Treasurer.

In Clubs

Virginia Club

No true Virginian can be overlooked at F. M. C., for the dedication each feels toward her home state is evidenced on her door, in her speech and in her conversation. Good will away from home and providing a "family away from home" brings these girls together in their club meetings with the foreign students on campus whom they have "adopted." Native Virginians gather around to salute the land "where corn and cotton grows." Co-sponsors are Mrs. Elbert McPhaul, Mrs. Walter Bullock and Miss Doris Hawse. Officers for this year are Judy Stokes, President; Carroll Shoemaker, Vice-President; Sandra Abbott, Secretary; Martha Kessler, Treasurer.

South Carolina Club

Coming North to school takes courage for South Carolinians. Through organization of the South Carolina Club, these girls find fun and fellowship in getting acquainted with each other and learning little facts about their Palmetto state of which they are truly proud. This year is the third anniversary of the club which has increased its membership greatly. Campus activities are enthusiastically promoted by these "Hi! you awl" gals. Lynda Hill presides over the club while Cecelia Heins performs Vice-President duties and Becky Whetstone keeps minutes and money.

Georgia - Florida Club

Absorbed in a television program of their concern, an informal group of "Southern Belles," representing the states of Georgia and Florida at F. M. C., enjoys companionship, fellowship, and fun. Being many miles from home, these girls make home seem closer for each other through their meetings and entertainment. Officers are Jane Carson, President, and Carolyn Northrup, Secretary-Treasurer.

Clubs

Math Honor Society

The Mathematical Honor Society is an organization for students who have maintained a high scholastic average in Mathematics. Its objectives are to encourage interest in the field throughout the college and to recognize achievement. Leading these mathematicians are President Martha Carter, Vice-President Thelma Sue Harrell, Corresponding Secretary Sarah Hatcher, Recording Secretary Sue Lahr, Treasurer Jo Campbell and Co-Finance Chairmen Kathy King and Margaret Cope Henderson.

William Bartram

Serious-minded science students gather around President Becky Browning who points out vertebra of the cat skeleton. The William Bartram Scientific Society is an honorary society seeking to promote interest in scientific knowledge through discussions of latest trends in science, making field trips and reports on articles of interest. The club was privileged to have Dr. Cutter from W. C. to speak at their meeting and to the student body on the need for science education today. Other officers are Ann Beamon, Vice-President; Thelma Harrell, Secretary; Dina Brown, Treasurer; Janice Simmons, Finance Chairman; and co-sponsors Dr. LeVesconte, Dr. Hansen, and Miss Hawse.

Home Economics Club

Flowering-arranging is an art and showing the Home Economics Club exactly where flowers must be placed is President Della Evans. This is one of many such informing programs of the club. Proof of the activity of the girls is the bazaar at Christmas when beautifully detailed handwork and finely stitched gifts are displayed for sale. The club's aim is to provide an opportunity for girls interested in home economics to combine educational, business, and social interest to broaden their knowledge. Susan Currie is Vice-President; Thelma Cameron, Secretary; Jo Ellen Anderson, Treasurer; and Yvonne Bennett, Reporter.

Granddaughters Club

Light-hearted chatting of days of the past as compared with today's changes finds the Granddaughter's Club absorbed in a conversation with their advisor, Miss Mary Conoly. Many granddaughters have attended Flora Macdonald, but it has only been three years that they became organized. The only prerequisite for admission is that a girl's mother and or grandmother attended Flora Macdonald College. The main function of the group is to assist in serving at Dr. Vardell's birthday party each year. Mary Leighton Nisbet is this year's president.

I. R. C.

Reaching a better understanding of national and international affairs, the members of the I. R. C. turn their attention toward President Janice Simmons' discussion of a point of interest on the map. Programs concerning current topics are not only studied in club meetings, but the entire student body is kept informed through chapel programs sponsored and presented by the club. Other officers are Marilyn Boyd, Vice-President; Thelma Harrell, Secretary; Frances Morton, Treasurer; Phyllis Washburn, Reporter and Scrapbook Custodian; Miss Carol Robertson, Advisor.

F. B. L. A.

Many skills must be conquered and many tools with which to work must be mastered to be a successful Future Business Leader of America. Increasingly complex machines which offer ease of work are the dictaphone, mimeograph machine and adding machines. When knowledge of these is combined with typing speed and first-band textbook insight, a promising future in business is assured. The F. B. L. A. provides both instruction, practical and social training to all business students. Officers are Peggy Cole, President; Kay Caldwell, Vice-President; Lillian Lee, Secretary; Grace Gallaway, Treasurer; and Manette Layton, Reporter; Miss McIntyre, Mrs. Lineberry and Miss Stenhouse are co-advisors.

Clubs

Alpha Psi Omega

Alpha Psi Omega, the National Honorary Drama Fraternity at Flora Macdonald has as its purpose, the recognition of outstanding talent and ability in all phases of dramatic art. Sarah Jordon is this year's director; Shirley Thomas, sub-director; Manette Layton, secretary-treasurer; and Mr. Thomas Johnson, advisor.

Highland Players

The finished product, polished, perfected and performed will climax the nights of practice for the drama-talented Highland Players. Providing for the development of the art of acting, fostering of the cultural values involved in drama and entertaining their audiences motivates the "players" in their productions. A repeat performance of Suppressed Desire was given in a Fall chapel program. Their peak performance was Blithe Spirit by Noel Coward, under the direction of Professor Thomas Johnson, faculty advisor. Margaret Covington, president; Edith Ponds, vice-president; Gay Mothershed, secretary-treasurer; Marilyn Layton, reporter-custodian serve as officers for the year.

Blithe Spirit is reproduced as Edith Ponds completes a make-up job on LaRue Canady.

David Boatwright, Hilary Valente, Alice Carol Huggins, Mr. John Williams, Kelsey McGee, LaRue Canady and Betsy Kanoy enact a scene from Blithe Spirit.

Day Student Association

A decided transition occured in the Day Student Association this year that will be historical. The first male president, Jack Ammons, took the reins to lead the group. With the yearly increase of male students, this change was vital to the needs of the club. Keeping abreast with all phases of college life, the club elected Betsy Carruth to serve as prayer-band leader, Jack Watson to be their representative to the A. A. Board, Betty Mitchell to report their projects through Skirl articles, and Geraldine Powers as secretary and treasurer. Weekly meetings are every Wednesday during Student Body meetings, after which all retire to the teahole for refreshments or a cigarette.

Charlotte Club

A powerhouse of activity is found in the infant club of the campus—the Charlotte Club. The "Queen City" girls organized themselves only last year. Besides being active in school affairs, they take as their project each Thanksgiving, to appear in fling costumes on a float in the annual Christmas parade in Charlotte. Officers are Ann Beamon, president; Beth Bigger, vice-president; and Phyllis Barnette, secretary-treasurer.

Fire Drill

The unexpected moment of a fire drill pictures the flood of students and faculty assembled outside the building as fire chief Mr. Robert Clifton checks.

Phone Desk

Campus life in an afternoon social whirl with Jane McLeod paging halls for girls whose dates have just arrived.

Sales

Money for the club's purses jingles at the old sign-out desk where the sale of hot dogs beckons hungry girls to a late 10:15 snack.

Christian Association

Dedicated devotion to nourish faith in Christianity on the campus is the express desire of the C. A. Centering these efforts around the theme "Called to be Students," the Cabinet accomplishes great work for the Kingdom through prayer bands, devotional material, Thanksgiving baskets and Christmas stockings, Chapel programs and a challenging week of spiritual enrichment.

Seeking to affix material gift with spiritual excellence through complete faith in God, reverent anticipation for His voice, and rare perplexity of mind, the Source of guidance in this search is wrought through prayer: "We pray, our Father, that in our search for truth our lives may be led to Thee, that in Thee we may grasp courage for honest search, and patience to seek humbly. In moments of perplexity, when we feel Thee so far away, help us to perform our daily tasks without question of Thee, through Jesus Christ we pray, Amen."

Footsteps of tomorrow are guided by today's teaching of Bible to the students in the Negro schools by interested disciples of truth.

New vistas for mental challenge and permanent insight are brought to the campus by the speaker for Spiritual Enrichment Week, Dr. Karlis Leyasmeyer.

Prayer band leaders are installed at the Prayer Chapel. Nancy Ritter, chairman. Martha Stevenson. Jo Campbell. Martha Kessler. Carolyn Northrup. Margaret Henderson. Yvonne Bennett. Kathy King. Jeri Cuttino. Susan Currie. Dot Hall. Della Evans. Mary Leighton Nesbit. Frances King. Gay Mothershed. Mary Lon Hults. Betty Jo Trent. Adeline Brady. Joanne Ross. Sandra Abbott. Sandra Sweet.

Student Volunteers

Centering their thoughts on the Cross, an informal bi-monthly meeting of the Student Volunteers begins. Placing emphasis on the motto, "With good will doing service, on to the Lord, and not to Men," each girl pledges herself to witnessing on the campus, and to Christ's redemptive love and universal Lordship by assisting in local and foreign needs. Guiding the group are Patty Jo Jones, President; Jeri Cuttino, Vice-President; Derice Weir, Secretary; Johnelle Copeland, Treasurer; Jean McRae, C. A. Representative; Peggy Dunn, Representative from Student Volunteers at large.

Methodist Student Union

Margaret Cope Henderson, President, has, no doubt, captured the attention of these girls who compose the Methodist Student Movement on the campus. Sunday mornings and evenings find this group assembled at the Trinity Methodist Church participating in worship, related church activities and planning a party to add fun to their fellowship. Ann Beamon is Vice-President, Betty Lou Snoddy, Secretary-Treasurer and Rev. Fred Still, local pastor.

Baptist Student Union

Filling the parlor with music, La Rue Canady sings from the Baptist hymnal accompanied by Adeline Brady. A typical program of the college B.S.U. is being held in which many girls participate. A full program is outlined for the group each year, as they provide a link between the First Baptist Church and F.M.C. Officers are Patsy Putnam, President; Jeri Cuttino, Vice-President; Judy Tindall, Secretary-Treasurer; Joanne Ross, pianist-director; Gayle Foster, Sunday School representative; Dr. Willis Bennett, local pastor.

Westminster Fellowship

By far the largest church-related group on campus is the W. F. Avid listeners gather to hear Mr. Skinner speak on "Christian Symbolism." Through this organization, girls are offered the opportunity to connect themselves with the local First Presbyterian Church. The slate of officers is Jennie Beck, President; Martha Stevenson, program chairman; Patty Jo Jones, Secretary; Jackie Arnette, Treasurer; Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Webster, advisors; Ruth Evelyn Topping, ex-officio member; Dr. Robert Hall, local pastor.

Search for Truth
in Harmony

Climax

Emotions are expressed in a sudden flash of applause, as the final chords of the concert sound. Constant preparation for one momentous hour now is rewarded.

Quiet excitement overpowers a performer as last minutes before curtain time draw near. Quickening of breath engulfs her; a nervous smile plays on her lips, while a recapitulation of technique sparks realization of the performance.

Anticipation

Longing eyes dwell on a simple painting the symbol of which every music major cherishes and craves; for soon this "hand-down picture" will be placed, by its present guardian, into the possession of next year's most promising senior music major whose delight it will be to stroke the canvas with her touch of ingenuity.

Perplexity

Harmonic, full-toned melodies seem want of harmony and quick fingers falter to an adagio while the pounding of the metronome adds to the frustration. Despair and defeat envade her mind, but no escape can be found.

Awkward and childlike, unsuspecting of the fundamental principles presented to them, theory of music is unfolded to a concerned, dauntless few.

Innocence

Although now accomplished but sensitive of her own days of innocence, a music major patiently explains and simplifies a strange, new number to her conservatory pupil.

Senior Recital

Ann Eller's acute, careful co-ordination of hands, feet and timing produce beautiful tones from the organ during her recital.

Organ Guild

In its third year as a campus organization, the Flora Macdonald Guild Student Group of the American Guild of Organists, a branch of the Cape Fear Valley Chapter, promotes keen interest in appropriate religious music and seeks to maintain and stimulate efficiency in church musicians. This year officers are Ann Eller, dean; Betty Jo Trent, sub-dean; Cecelia Heins, secretary-treasurer; Mr. John Williams, supervisor.

St. Cecelia Music Club

Paying respect to the memory of the first dean of the conservatory, Mrs. C. G. Vardell, Sr., are members of the St. Cecelia Music Club. Only those select few who take music courses are eligible for membership. Excellently planned programs bring outside music groups, soloists and speakers to the college. Cecelia Hines is president; Adeline Brady, vice-president; Adalyn Burrows, secretary-treasurer; and Miss Joyce Bryant, faculty advisor.

Explaining peculiarities of his French horn to Dr. Vardell is John Eger with his group, the Eger Players.

Concert-Lecture Series

Adding charm and versatility to the concert-lecture series is Iva Kitchell, dance satirist, who discusses costume changes with Nancy Jo, chief marshal.

Jacob Lateiner, pianist, was the last on the series.

Soprano Joan Hammond presented a superb program.

Outstanding in their contributions to harmony at F.M.C. are Mac Calhoun with her accordion and Vivian Morrison, prize-winning Scottish dancer and bagpiper.

Jo Campbell, Betty Jo Trent, Ann Beamon, Sylvia Williams, Cecelia Heins, Joanne Ross, Gayle Foster, and Kay Bergman, accompanist, comprise the representative choral group, the Ensemble.

Choral Club

Representatives of the college through song, the Choral Club takes a spring tour each year presenting secular and religious concerts in schools and churches of the surrounding towns and states. Through careful blending of voices, under the direction of Mr. Lawrence M. Skinner, the thrill of singing is transmitted to audiences. In finding pleasure and appreciation for music, the club's aim, perplexed hours of extra rehearsals fade. Working in concerted effort, they build a harmony of gaiety, soberness, and awe through song. Officers are Ann Eller, president; Francis King, first vice-president; Barbara Mitchell, second vice-president; Sandra Abbott, third vice-president; Lorraine Williams, secretary; Sylvia Williams, treasurer; Betty Jo Trent, historian; Sandra Sweet, chaplain; Mac Calhoun, accompanist; Joanne Ross, assistant accompanist.

FLORA MACDONALD COLLEGE

RED SPRINGS, NORTH CAROLINA

62nd Year

ACCREDITED SENIOR COLLEGE AND CONSERVATORY

B.A., B.S., and B.M. DEGREES

Flora Macdonald College has "that something." You can't quite describe it. You feel it — just as soon as you step on the campus. It's "something" intangible but real. Ask any student who has lived in the elevating and energizing atmosphere of the college. You will be told it's "something" that gets into one's heart, mind, and soul — "something" that awakens the best — "something" that lays hold of the best — "something" that brings out the best. It's "something" a student feels when studying in the library or listening to a lecture in the classroom or playing basketball in the gym or walking through the college gardens. It's "something" that makes a student want to work and play and live with zest and joy and abandonment. It's "something" a student finds at Flora Macdonald — "something" that lives in her and with her during her college years — "something" which goes with her out into life and makes her a unique person, radiant in personality, unselfish in spirit, and successful in her career as a teacher or nurse or pastor's assistant or technician or secretary or wife and mother or leader in her church and community. "That something" is the plus in education which Flora Macdonald offers you. It's "that something" which money cannot buy but which no girl who has found it would exchange for all the wealth of India.

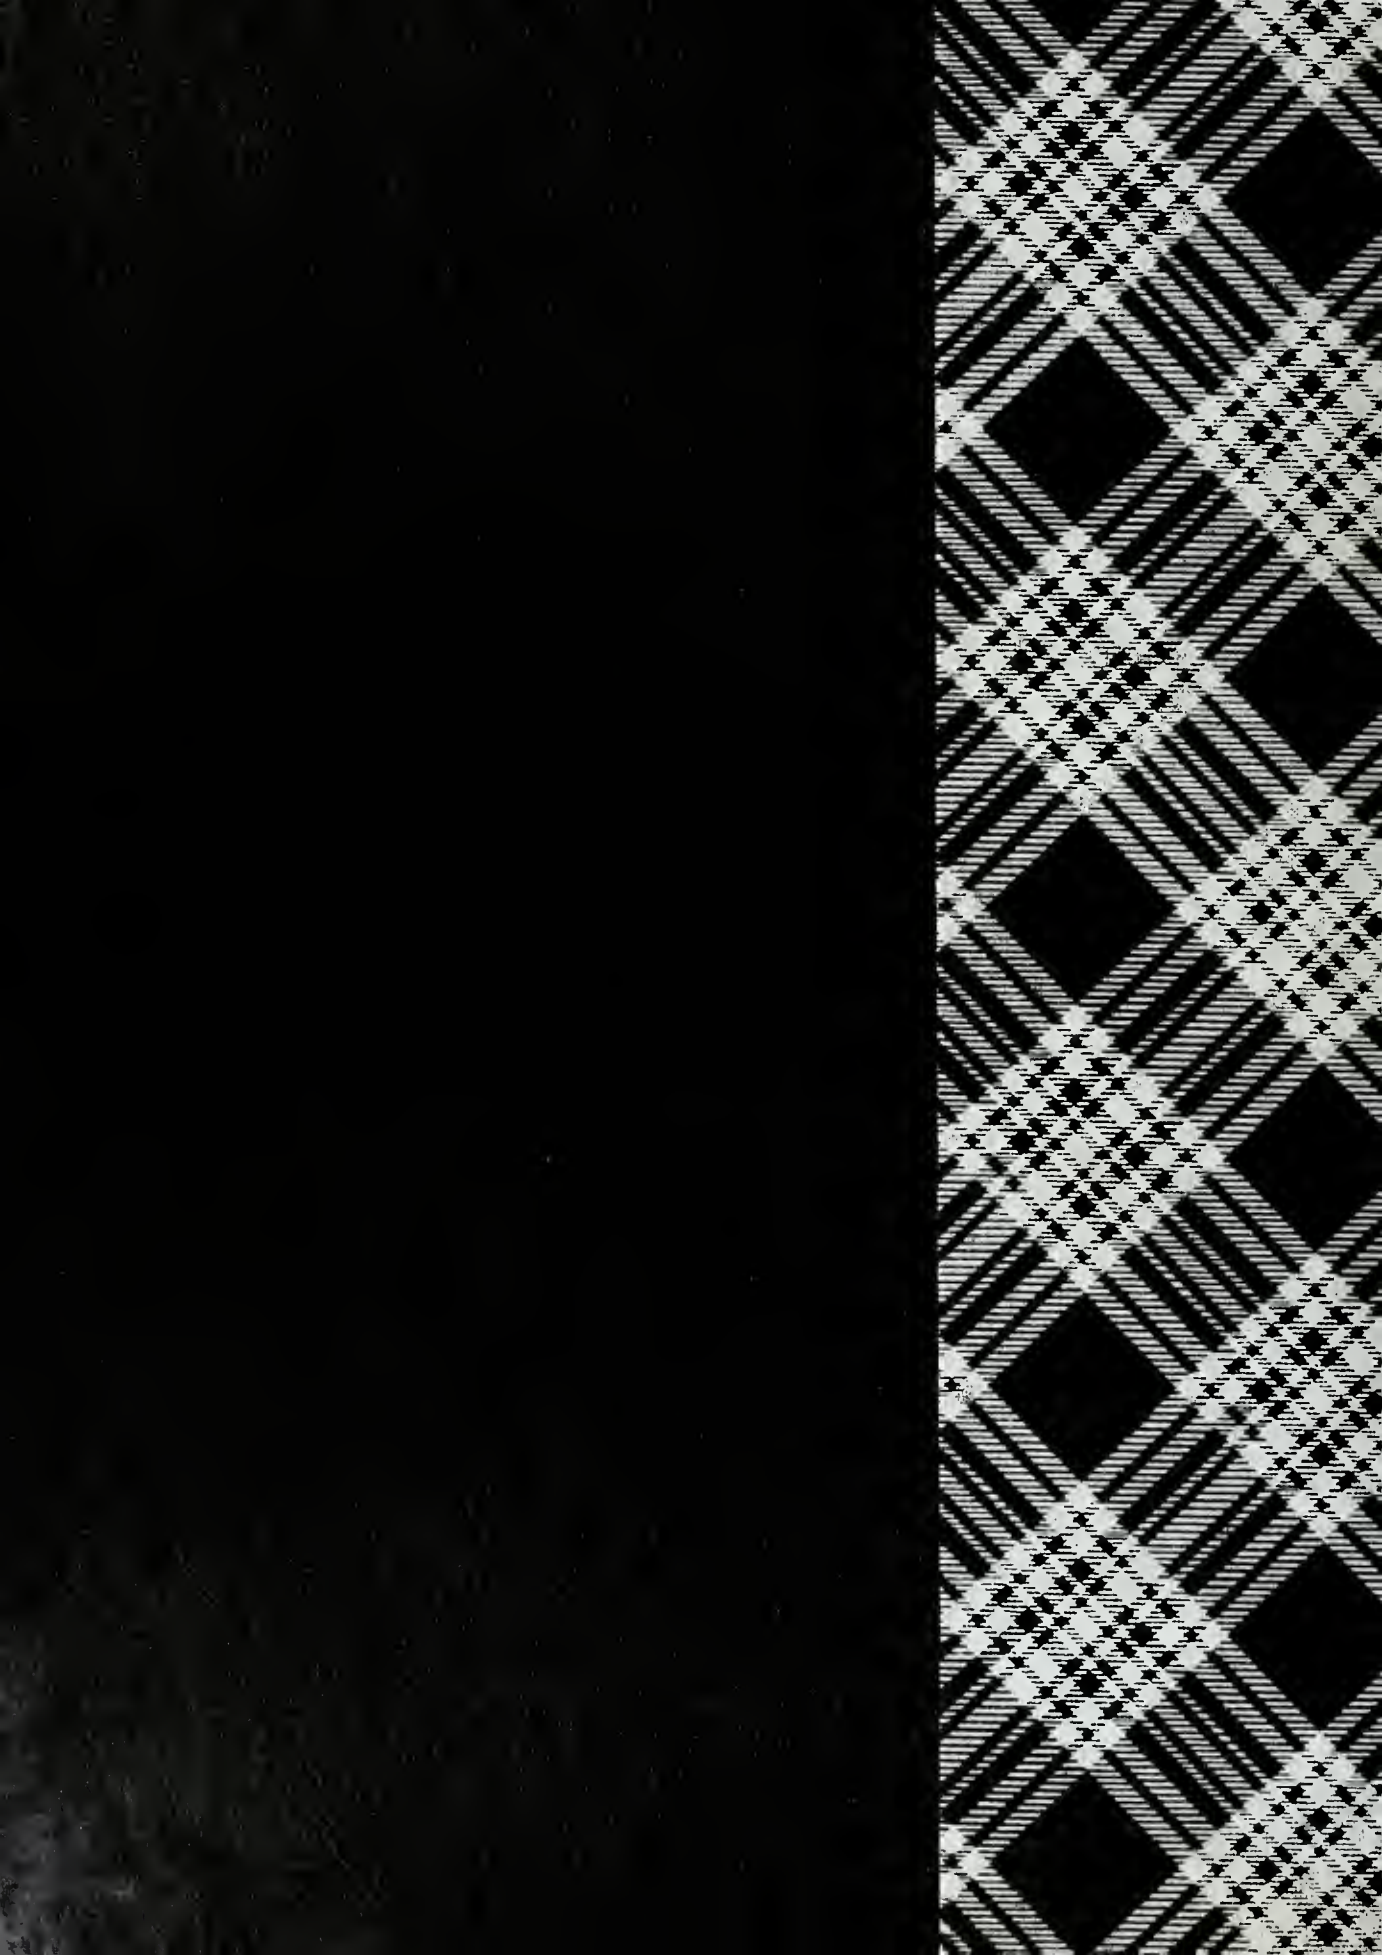
Search for Truth Continues . . .

Shadows of innocence, perplexity, anticipation, climax fade.


New hope descends upon us, as we envisage a future opened to our search.
